

Stay ahead the planning curve implementing the next generation S&OP with SAP IBP

WHY?

1. Align Sales, Finance and Supply
2. React to sudden market change or unexpected events
3. Respond to customer and demand evolutions
4. Plan rapidly in a time of cost pressure
5. Promote a collaborative and faster decision-making process

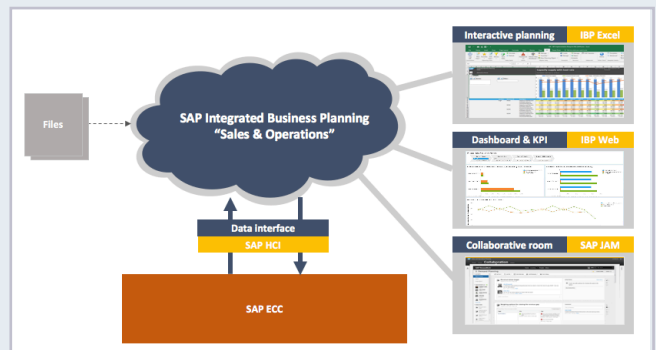

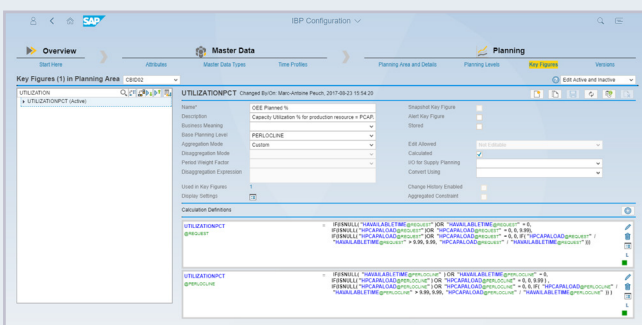

OPERATIONAL GAINS

Integrated with MS Excel

IBP Excel add-in integrates the favorite UI for planners (MS Excel).

Fast with HANA DB

Relying on the calculation power of HANA DB, the entire supply network is recalculated in a couple of seconds.

Flexible

SAP IBP is a highly configurable solution where the planning model figures your business requirements (constrained planning, infinite capacity planning, pooled capacity, sales forecasting, demand sensing etc).

Unified with your planning data in SAP ECC

Our set of HCI preconfigured interfaces and our unique MRP planning data extractor provides you with a near "real-time" planning information into your planning views, and helps you jump-starting your implementation.

BUSINESS CONTEXT

SAP APO will be discarded beyond 2025

SAP SCM platform will undergo drastic changes in coming years, moving to IBP.

ERP vs XLS

Most companies rely on MS Excel to build their Sales & Operations Plans, leaving data out of their ERP.

IT solution vs Business Model

S&OP implementation often relies on adapting the Business Data Model to the solution artefacts, rather than the opposite.

No real-time what-if analysis

Most planning solutions do not provide multiple scenarios' capability.

Quantity vs Value

No native consideration of price, revenue or margin during strategic planning, only in quantity.

No collaboration enablement

S&OP process relies on the collaboration of several contributors, left under the animation of the S&OP specialist.

The Next Generation S&OP is at your fingertips implementing SAP IBP with our EXPERIENCED TEAM.
